

We would like the law to stay the same. The stricter the better telemarketers do not need to have cell numbers and or the numbers of people who no longer do business with them. If we need to contact them it should be left to the party of who needs to contact them not the one who wants to contact them thanks